

Florida's BIG BEND SHELLFISH TRIAL

Clam Harvesting in Cedar Key, FL

Day One: First STOP-CEDAR KEY in Levy County, Florida. This beautiful island is located in the Gulf of Mexico, just west of Gainesville, Florida. Come prepared to be immersed in the local culture of a working waterfront for oystermen and clam farmers. Wander the narrow street, rich in history and architecture, circa 1850's. Today, there is a booming business of raising clams and oysters just off shore. There are many "Farm to Table" restaurants serving delectable and savory dishes. Take a educational and fun clam tour with Scale Key Clam Tours 352-221-2555. Many restaurants on the island feature local clams, oysters, crabs and amazing World Champion Clam Chowder at Tony's Seafood Restaurant.

Day Two: Travel north along US 19-98 and south CR 349 to the laid-back coastal community of SUWANNEE in Dixie County, Florida. Fishermen still rely on the Gulf of Mexico to provide them with an abundance of clams, oysters, blue and stone crabs. Be sure to enjoy lunch or dinner at the Salt Creek Shellfish Company Restaurant. Suwannee Guides & Outfitters 352 542-8331 for a nature boat tour or paddling excursions along river or Gulf.

Day Three: Continue north on US 19-98 then CR 51 to the coastal fishing community of STEINHATCHEE in Taylor County, Florida. This working waterfront of crab traps and shrimp boats creates a picturesque landscape of river and Gulf convergence. Celebrate with a shellfish lunch or dinner, at Fiddler's Restaurant along Riverside Drive or a beautiful sunset on the deck of Roy's Restaurant. There are numerous boat captains for fishing trips for harvesting scallops during the summer. Here you will find another 'quite side' of Florida.

Day Four: Rounding the corner of the Big Bend along the Gulf of Mexico come to MONTICELLO and WACISSA in Jefferson County, Florida where amazing rivers and springs grace the woodlands. Take time to paddle in the Aucilla and Wacissa Rivers, making your way to the Gulf, or spend your days riding the many bike trails looking for birds and wildlife. Stop by the Brick House Eatery for a special treat of Southern Hospitality.
